The History of the University

Middle Tennessee State University began as Middle Tennessee State Normal School, opening its doors on Monday, September 11, 1911.

In 1909, the Tennessee General Assembly passed legislation to improve the system of public education by establishing a General Education Fund and creating three normal schools, one in each of the three grand divisions of the state. These institutions were to establish teaching standards or “norms,” hence the name. The Murfreesboro school began with four buildings on a dusty site that just a year earlier had been farmland.

Opening with a two-year program for training teachers, Middle Tennessee State Normal School evolved into a four-year teachers college in 1925 with the power of granting the Bachelor of Science degree. In 1943, the General Assembly designated the institution a state college. This new status marked a sharp departure from the founding purpose and opened the way for expanding curricular offerings and programs. In 1965, the institution advanced to university status.

Several significant milestones chart the progress from normal school to university and beyond. During the progressive movement from a two-year normal to a university, several significant milestones may be identified. Responding to the expressed needs of the institution’s service area, the Graduate School was established in 1951. The Bachelor of Arts was added that same year. To effect better communications and improve administrative supervision, the schools concept was introduced in 1962.

As MTSU developed and grew, new degree programs included the Doctor of Arts in 1970 and the Specialist in Education in 1974. Library resources dramatically increased, and sophisticated computer services aided instruction and administration. A highly trained faculty enabled the University to continue growth in program offerings. In 1991, the University's six schools-five undergraduate and the graduate school-became colleges. In 1998, MTSU's Honors Program became the Honors College, the first in the state. In 2006, the Division of Continuing Studies and Public Service changed to the College of Continuing Education and Distance Learning. In 2002, approval was granted to redesignate three D.A. programs to Doctor of Philosophy programs, and subsequently five others have been approved. In the 2010 reorganization, Continuing Education and Distance Learning became the University College, and the College of Education and Behavioral Science became the College of Education and the College of Behavioral and Health Sciences. The Doctor of Education was approved in 2012.

Since 1911, MTSU has graduated more than 100,000 students. Despite the University's growth from a campus of 100 acres, 125 students, and a faculty of 18, to an academic city of over 500 acres, more than 22,000 students, and a faculty of more than 900, the institution is still essentially a "people's university" with a concern for the diverse needs of the area that it serves. In 1986, James McGill Buchanan ('40) became the first MTSU alumnus to be awarded the Nobel Prize. Buchanan received the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences for his development of the theory of public choice, a way of studying the expenditure of public funds. In 2011 the University celebrated it's Centennial year with the theme "A Tradition of Excellence." As the University looks forward to the next 100 years, the theme is exemplified as everyone in the University community-students, faculty, staff, alumni, and friends-strives to be the best

MIDDLE TENNESSEE STATE UNIVERSITY

ADMISSION STANDARDS
(Undergraduate)

First Time Freshmen

Admission to MTSU for first-time freshmen is straightforward; there are two possible paths--guaranteed admission and admission by review:

For guaranteed admission, applicants must have completed the recommended college preparatory courses and must present one of the following:

- 3.0 GPA, OR
- Minimum composite ACT score of 22 (Equivalent SAT of 1020-Critical Reading & Math), OR
- Minimum 2.7 GPA plus ACT score of 19 (Equivalent SAT of 900- Critical Reading & Math)

The student's diploma/ transcript must reflect a distribution of college preparatory courses, similar to the core elements of the Tennessee High School Diploma. A sample of suggested courses and units are displayed below:

Admission by review - Students who don't meet the requirements for guaranteed admission can still be considered for conditional admission through a review process. Students will be asked to submit a personal statement form. A review committee will assess the personal statement and take into consideration the student's potential for success by evaluating factors such as high school course work, honors or advanced placement, dual credit, and extenuating circumstances.

- ### Graduates of Unapproved or Unaccredited High Schools

  Applicants who graduate from unapproved or unaccredited high schools in Tennessee can be considered for admission through the review process. These students must achieve an ACT composite score of 22 or higher or present a GED test score of 450 or higher or a HiSET test score of 10 or higher. The review will include GED or HiSET credentials as well as other special interests, skills, and non-academic factors as explained on the personal statement form which can be completed at the point of application.

(Graduate)

General Admission Policies

- ADMISSION PROCEDURES:

Admission to graduate studies at Middle Tennessee State University involves admission to an individual academic program. Upon receipt of all required materials, and assuming the applicant meets the admission standards of the desired academic program, the application is then forwarded (routed) to the individual program for consideration. Applications of admission should be completed online.

Note: In accepting admission, a graduate student assumes responsibility for knowing and complying with the regulations and procedures set forth in the graduate catalog, as well as any amendments of revisions which may ensue.

- DEGREE REQUIREMENT:
  Graduate applicants must have earned a bachelor's degree. Exceptions are those seeking the Doctorate or Specialist degrees, which may require a prior master's degree.

- GPA REQUIREMENTS:
  All applicants to the College of Graduate Studies must have an overall undergraduate GPA of 2.75 (on a 4.00 scale) to be automatically routed to academic programs for consideration. Certain programs may consider exceptions to this policy. Please contact the program of interest for further information. Applicants who attended graduate school at another institution must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.00 on all graduate work and a minimum of 2.75 on all undergraduate work to be considered for unconditional admission. International students on an F-1 visa must meet requirements for unconditional admission.

Note: Individual programs may have higher GPA requirements than the College of Graduate Studies.

- OFFICIAL TEST SCORES:
  Applicants should consult the programs for individual program admission requirements. Additionally, individual programs determine which graduate test they require, such as the GRE, GMAT, or MAT.
- DEADLINES:
  While the College of Graduate Studies in general does not have an application deadline, we do impose a submission date each semester to ensure that our coordinators have sufficient time to process your application. At least three months prior to the anticipated date of registration, all degree-seeking applicants must submit the following materials to the College of Graduate Studies. Therefore, prospective students applying after the submission date may be subject to a late registration fee.

Note: Be advised that some programs do enforce admittance deadlines. Check with your desired program for these dates. Applications may take up to 1 month to process.

- Once all of the required materials are submitted, it is up to the individual programs to decide whether or not they wish to admit the student. Programs may admit or reject a student for whatever reasons they see fit. Because one program has rejected you does not mean you cannot apply to another program. If the program recommends admission, the paperwork is then returned to the College of Graduate Studies office and an official letter of admission is sent to the student. Students may check admission status by going through PipelineMT.

Note: Once you are enrolled as a graduate student, you are required to maintain an overall 3.0 GPA in your graduate credit course work to remain in good academic standing.

Notes: Total Grads were first-time, full-time freshmen (FTFTF) who enrolled summer of 2008 and returned that fall, or enrolled fall 2008 and graduated from either their admitting institution or another institution by spring or summer of 2014. Graduates from the summer of 2014 were included along with traditionally reported spring graduates to align with IPEDS reporting. The grad rate for the Total Grads category is a distinct count of students and includes all in-and out-of-state graduates. The graduation rate for the Grads from Admitting Institution category consists of students who began at their admitting institution and graduated from that same institution within six years. Graduates in the TN Public or TN Private Institutions columns may be duplicated; students graduated from either their admitting institution or another institution, or both their admitting institution and another institution.

[1] In 2013, the reporting of 2012 sex offenses for the crime classifications of Forcible Rape, Forcible Sodomy, Sexual Assault with Object, and Forcible Fondling were included together under the general crime classification of "Sex Offenses – Forcible." Similarly, the crime classifications of Statutory Rape and Incest were included together under the general crime classification of "Sex Offenses – Non-Forcible."

[2] Change in Reporting Requirement: In 2014, the reporting of 2013 sex offenses for the crime classifications of Forcible Rape, Forcible Sodomy, Sexual Assault with Object, and Forcible Fondling were no longer reported under the general crime classification of "Sex Offenses – Forcible." Each sex offense was to be reported as an individual crime.

[3] Statistics under Student Residence are also counted under the On Campus geographic category. The law requires institutions to break out the number of On Campus crimes that occur in student residential facilities.

[4] Institutions are required to publish the number of "Unfounded" crimes beginning with calendar year 2015 crime statistics. MTSU has elected to voluntarily report that information for 2014 crime statistics in advance of the requirement taking affect.

[5] The following is a breakdown of the reported crimes that were investigated by University Police and found to be false or baseless: (1) Robbery was deemed a prank and reclassified as Intimidation; (4) Motor Vehicle Theft reports were instances where a vehicle had been repossessed, lost, parked off campus and towed for a parking violation, or a misunderstanding between two persons; (36) Larceny reports were instances of lost property that was later found, a false police report, or a misunderstanding between two persons; and (1) Vandalism was a third party report in which no damage to property was sustained.

[6] Crimes required to be reported by the Clery Act when motivated by a hate or bias of the offender. In an effort to better inform the community, MTSU voluntarily discloses incidents of these crimes whether they have been motivated by hate/bias or not.

[7] The elements of domestic violence and dating violence are very similar. Therefore, in order to differentiate between the two crimes for classification purposes, University Police counted incidents as "domestic violence" that could have been classified as "dating violence" if the persons involved lived together at the time of the incident (to include roommates).

MIDDLE TENNESSEE STATE UNIVERSITY

THE CENTER FOR HISTORIC PRESERVATION

Established 1984

Dr. Carroll Van West, Director

Established in 1984, the Center for Historic Preservation works with students, communities, and partners to interpret and preserve historic properties across the nation. The Center impacts all types of communities by providing boots-on-the-ground technical and preservation tools that allow residents to create new opportunities through the sustainable use of their heritage assets, from the RCA Studio A in Nashville to the Shiloh Rosenwald School in Alabama. The Center also leads scholarly research such as the Tennessee Encyclopedia of History and Culture and the website, Trials and Triumphs: Tennesseans Search for Citizenship and Opportunity.

Training students for professional careers is at the heart of the Center's mission. It provides unparalleled opportunities through its signature programs: the Tennessee Civil War National Heritage Area, Teaching with Primary Sources across Tennessee, MTSU's American Democracy Project, Tennessee Century Farms Program, and its digital humanities partnership with the MTSU Walker Library. Hundreds of preservation professionals received their formative training through the Center, where faculty and staff teach historic preservation and history classes and direct graduate theses and dissertations.

THE CENTER FOR POPULAR MUSIC

Established 1985

Dr. Gregory N. Reish, Director

The Center holds over one million items related to American vernacular music traditions, encompassing the full range of styles in popular music, folk and traditional music, sacred music, and community band music. The materials are wide-ranging and include, in part, early American sheet music, songsters, and broadsides; sound recordings in all formats; published scholarly books and periodicals; unique archival collections; multi-media digital collections; and databases that offer the latest marketing statistics.

The Center also strives to stimulate learning and the exchange of ideas through grant-supported projects, conferences, classes, guest lectures, and concerts, the Spring Fed record label, interviews, discussion blogs, social media engagement, digitization activities, and staff research projects. You can explore many of our digital collections, activities, and holdings on this website. Free and open to everyone, the Center has a staff eager to help you better understand our country's vast musical heritage.

Endowed Chairs

Several academic programs are enriched through the establishment of Chairs dedicated to the support of a particular discipline. The chairholders may be full-time faculty members or may be individuals from the appropriate business or professional field who are on campus for special seminars or lecture series. Two Chairs, funded by gifts to the University Foundation, are administered through the Economics and Finance Department. The third is housed in the Business Communication and Entrepreneurship Department.

THE MARTIN CHAIR OF INSURANCE
Established 1982
The Martin Chair of Insurance was founded by a group of alumni and friends to upgrade and enhance the insurance curriculum at MTSU. It was named in honor of Thomas T. Martin, a Murfreesboro insurance agent who was a highly successful underwriter for almost 60 years.

The Martin Chair is currently vacant.

THE WEATHERFORD CHAIR OF FINANCE
Established 1986
Chairholder, William F. Ford

The Weatherford Chair of Finance was established to honor Jack O. Weatherford, one of Tennessee's and the nation's leading community bankers. A decorated Navy veteran of World War II, Mr. Weatherford completed his education at Middle Tennessee State University and the University of Tennessee-Knoxville. He began his banking career at the Murfreesboro Bank and Trust Company, where he rose through the ranks to chair and CEO. Holding top positions in national banking organizations, he led his bank through a series of mergers involving acquisitions of smaller area banks. The Weatherford Chair of Finance provides specialized training for students interested in banking careers. It also operates a placement service for such students, provides scholarships for them, and conducts research and seminars on topics of interest to the banking community.

THE WRIGHT TRAVEL CHAIR OF ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Established 2007
Chairholder, William C. McDowell

Dr. William McDowell holds the Wright Travel Chair of Entrepreneurship. McDowell joined MTSU in 2014 after launching several successful businesses (and churches) and teaching entrepreneurship at East Carolina University. McDowell believes college creates opportunities for future entrepreneurs to get experience without risk. "We work with people to organize their ideas and build a structure: a marketing plan, a production plan, financing options. Jones College can really help idea people launch their ideas."

McDowell launched the 2015 Business Plan Competition, open to all MTSU students and alumni. Prominent area early-stage company investors, entrepreneurs, and business leaders judged student presentations. Prizes awarded were $7,500 for first place and $5,000 for second. The 2015 winner was Matthew Wright, PhD candidate in molecular bio-sciences, for his business plan for Salomon's House, a life-science startup that focuses on the conservation of endangered plant species and explores the plants' chemical profiles for potential use in the development of pharmaceuticals.

THE DR. CARL ADAMS CHAIR IN HEALTH CARE SERVICES
Established 1987
Chairholder, M. Jo Edwards

As community physician, Dr. Carl Adams' concern for the quality and quantity of health care professionals to address the issues of a sufficient and well educated health care work force led him to establish the Adams Chair of Excellence in Health Care Services. The Adams Chair was established in November 1988 with funds donated by the late Dr. Carl Adams and his wife, Jennie Mae Adams, and matched by MTSU and the Tennessee Chairs of Excellence program. The Chair provides a platform for MTSU to engage an interdisciplinary group of scholars, in partnership with the community, to forge solutions to current health care concerns. The Center for Health and Human Services is the operational center for the Chair. It was approved in 1993 by the Tennessee Board of Regents.

The Adams family of Murfreesboro, Tennessee, has been a strong supporter of MTSU for many decades. The late Dr. Carl E. Adams, a physician and lifelong resident of Tennessee, had a vision to provide higher quality healthcare services for seniors. He was the founding President and CEO of National HealthCare Corporation (NHC). Dr. Adams began his work in elder care by adding skilled nursing services, registered nurses, and rehabilitative services for NHC healthcare centers. Together with his wife, Jennie Mae, he was also devoted to improving the quality of life for all citizens in the regional community.

The Chair is available to serve on all health and human service faculty advisory councils and to assist various departments in establishing common goals that would benefit all programs in these service areas.

The primary mission of The Adams Chair of Excellence is:

- To strengthen the working relationships between MTSU's programs in health and human services and the regional health care community.
- To enhance and continuously improve the image of MTSU at the regional, national and international level.

- To enhance the academic, research and service programs, by involving faculty members in health and human service programs, to ensure the continuous improvement of their skills, and the relevancy and immediacy of the materials they impart to students.
- To make Middle Tennessee State University an institution of choice for those wishing to pursue careers in health and human services.

Holder of the Adams Chair of Excellence, Martha Jo Edwards, Ed.D. was selected as the first Adams Chair of Excellence in 1992 served until her retirement in December 2015.

THE KATHERINE DAVIS MURFREE - CHAIR OF EXCELLENCE IN DYSLEXIC STUDIES
Established 1989
Chairholder, Dr. Timothy Odegard

The Tennessee Center for the Study and Treatment of Dyslexia was established by the Tennessee General Assembly in 1993 to assist K-12 students with dyslexia, their teachers, and their families. Dyslexia is the principal learning disability contributing to limited overall development of literacy skills, despite good teaching, among intelligent individuals who want to learn. Low literacy has high cost consequences for society. But, students with dyslexia can learn to read and write effectively if identified early; if specialized approaches to instruction are provided, and if teachers and families are patient.

The Center is dedicated to informing the public about the condition of dyslexia, to establishing reliable approaches to identifying students (K-12) with dyslexia, to educating teachers (pre-service and in service) in best practices that promote literacy acquisition among students with dyslexia, and to enhancing the knowledge base regarding the nature of dyslexia, its biological substrate, as well as effective interventions.

James E. Walker Library

In 1912, the first library for Middle Tennessee State Normal School was established by newly hired librarian Betty Avent Murfree. She started the collection with donations of 75 books from persons both on and off campus. The library was housed on the third floor of Old Main overlooking the main entrance, and its collection eventually grew to 2,000 volumes. By 1925, a separate library building was needed for the newly named Middle Tennessee State Teachers College. Designed to accommodate 20,000 volumes, the structure was erected across from Old Main on the site where Peck Hall now stands. In 1958, a new library building was constructed at a cost of $500,000. Located east of the older library and between the Science Building and Jones Hall, this new building was to hold a growing collection of up to 150,000 volumes. It was named the Andrew L. Todd Library. In 1970, an addition to Todd Library was required to meet the needs of a growing university. Although this building was designed to contain 225,000 volumes, over 600,000 volumes filled its shelves.

In spring 1999, MTSU again opened a new library to meet the needs of a rapidly growing student body. It was designed to accommodate a collection of over one million bound volumes and provide seating for 2,600. The library includes a four-floor atrium that serves as the central organizing element for the interior spaces and brings controlled, natural daylight to readers and study spaces in the building. In fall 2001, the new library, a visible sign of the University's commitment to quality education, was named James E. Walker Library in honor of a former MTSU president who was a friend of the library, a leader in higher education, and a partner in securing funding for the new building.

The Walker Library building is visited by well over ONE MILLION people per year (that's an average of over 25,000 per week) and equally as many people visit online through library.mtsu.edu. Through hundreds of Library research classes taught to one on one research coach appointments to the forty thousand people helped with research and technology at library service desks throughout the year the James E Walker Library truly is the JEWL of the campus.
