

Title: Bart Gordon Papers

Dates: 1984-2011

Creator: Bart Gordon

Summary/Abstract: The Bart Gordon Papers consist of documents and other materials produced during his service in the United States House of Representatives representing Tennessee's Sixth Congressional District. Included in these papers are materials from his Washington, D.C. Congressional office, his Congressional office in Murfreesboro, Tennessee, and his campaign operations, as well as personal items from Gordon's private life and college years at MTSU. In addition to physical documents and objects, the collection contains the data transferred from Gordon's Intranet Quorum (IQ) database that his staff used to coordinate communications with constituents and to conduct casework involving constituents and federal agencies.

Quantity/Physical Description: Over 650 linear feet

Language(s): English, some Romanian

Repository: Albert Gore Research Center, Middle Tennessee State University, Murfreesboro, TN 37132

Restrictions on Access: Since the material is currently in the processing stage, some material may be available to researchers on a case-by-case basis, if the archivist can provide it without risking the material or hindering processing. Such access is contingent on staff and resource availability.

While the Bart Gordon Papers are generally available to researchers without restriction, archival practice and provisions in the deed of gift restrict access to some portions of the papers, mostly casework files that may hold personally identifiable information, or information otherwise restricted by law, for a period of fifty years from the date of donation. The closed records will be evaluated at appropriate intervals and opened according to the deed of gift only when there is no longer a risk of releasing private information or violation of the law.

Copyright: Congressman Gordon conveyed and assigned all right and interest in the donated materials to Middle Tennessee State University. It is presumed that any corporate and individual copyrights in manuscripts, photographs, and other materials in the donation to which the donor may not have had full copyright, have been retained by the copyright owners. Copyright restrictions apply. Users of materials should seek necessary permissions from the copyright holders to comply with U.S. copyright laws.

Processed by: These papers are currently unprocessed. However, there is a folder-level inventory available. Sarah Calise, Project Archivist (2017), Mary DePeder, Intern (2018), and Alissa Kane, Graduate Assistant (2019), developed a folder-level inventory of the original banker's boxes. This folder-level inventory begins on page 6.

Biographical Note:

Bart Gordon was born on January 24, 1949, in Murfreesboro, to Robert and Margaret Gordon, both alumni of MTSU. His father and grandfathers were farmers, and his mother was a teacher in the Rutherford County schools. Gordon's grandfather, Robert Sr., met his wife while a student at Middle Tennessee Normal School and later helped to found several local rural organizations aimed at improving the community. It was from his grandfather's efforts that he learned the value of giving back to and improving one's community and decided to make it his life's goal.

After graduating from Central High School in 1967, Gordon worked on John Bragg's unsuccessful 1968 congressional campaign. It was through this experience that he decided Congress was where he could best serve his community and the greater Middle Tennessee area. Gordon graduated from Middle Tennessee State University in 1971 with honors and from the College of Law at the University of Tennessee-Knoxville in 1973. He served in the Army Reserves from 1971-1972. From 1974 to 1983, he practiced law in Murfreesboro and worked for the Tennessee state Democratic Party.

In 1984, the citizens of the sixth district elected Gordon to Congress to help represent and improve the lives of Middle Tennesseans. During his twenty-six-year distinguished congressional career, Gordon developed a reputation as the undisputed bipartisan leader in innovation policy in the U.S. Congress. During his chairmanship of the House Science and Technology Committee, the committee passed 151 bills and resolutions and all were bipartisan. In 2007, he championed the America COMPETES Act, signed into law by President Bush, which promoted federal investments in innovation in order to make the US more competitive.

In 2010, he engineered the passage of the America COMPETES Reauthorization Act. Signed by President Obama, the act renewed the federal commitment to research and development and education, adding new provisions such as support for prize competitions.

Gordon also played a key role in developing and passing the 21st Century Nanotechnology Research and Development Act, which encouraged the federal government to promote the transfer of nanotechnology breakthroughs from laboratories to commercial products. He also promoted legislation that would implement a research program focusing on the environmental, health, and safety aspects of nanotechnology.

Throughout his political career, Gordon led the debate on a wide range of technology issues and formulated legislative initiatives on a number of other subjects, including health information technology, nuclear power, rare earth minerals, and synthetic biotechnology. Additionally, he led the effort to enact the Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007, which increased mileage standards, improved vehicle technology, promoted alternative energy research, and improved energy efficiency in a variety of ways. Gordon was also a leading proponent of America's space program, and of improving the nation's performance in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) education. He is also a Distinguished Fellow on the Council on Competitiveness and appointed by President Obama to the National Science Foundation's U.S. Antarctic Program Blue Ribbon Panel.

Gordon's work in Congress extended beyond science and technology. For instance he was a champion of expansion and improvement efforts at Stones River National Battlefield, and he wrote legislation creating the Tennessee Civil War Heritage Area, which authorized $10 million of congressionally appropriated funds to help promote tourism and conserve the state's Civil War Heritage. He counts the Methamphetamine Remediation Research Act, the NET 911 Improvement Act, and the Garrett Lee Smith Memorial Act among his legislative achievements. The Smith Memorial Act authorized the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration to award grants to states and local communities, as well as colleges and universities, to implement youth suicide prevention programs. Gordon coauthored the Family Medical Leave Act compromise in 1990 that was ultimately signed into law in 1993 by President Clinton. Finally, he wrote the Sports Agent Responsibility and Trust Act, which protects amateur athletes from abusive contract practices, and laws regulating 1-800 and 1-900 numbers for the first time by prohibiting charges on calls to 1-800 numbers, giving consumers the right to block 1-900 numbers, and requiring 1-900 operators to disclose rates and give people the chance to hang up before they incur charges.

For twenty years running, before sidelined by an injury and then his retirement, Gordon was the "fastest member of Congress" by virtue of his victories in an annual three-mile race for charity.

Upon his retirement from Congress in 2011, Gordon joined the law firm K & L Gates as a partner in the Washington, DC, office. In 2012 he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in New York. Later in the same year the government of France awarded him the Legion of Honor, with an added promotion by the president of France to the rank of Officier. He is married to Leslie Peyton Gordon, who is a partner with Korn/Ferry International, and the two have one daughter.

Scope and Content: These papers are presently being processed. They were created and collected in the day-to-day operation of the office of Congressman Bart Gordon, as well as in activities and events relating to his political campaigns. They include all manner of content in various different media. Included is a database, maintained in its digital format, of constituent communication. The bulk of the material will have no access restrictions once processing is complete. Exceptions will be material containing personally identifiable information and material restricted by law. Documents and records will be reviewed periodically by archival staff to determine when the records can be made public without violating these conditions. During processing, some material may be available to researchers on a case-by-case basis, if the archivist can provide access to it without risking the material or hindering processing. Such access is contingent on staff and resource availability.

Below you can find a folder-level inventory that was completed in 2019. This inventory describes contents in their original order as it was arranged and shipped to the Gore Center.

Arrangement: Original order. The folder-level inventory features a shipment column, box number, and folder title with a brief description of each folder's contents. There is also an estimated date range.
