Dr. Judith M. Iriarte-Gross Chemistry Professor and Director of the Women in STEM Center, MTSU

A native of Washington, D.C., Dr. Judith M. Iriarte-Gross is nationally known for encouraging girls and women in the sciences and has been recognized with numerous awards and accolades. She is a professor of Chemistry and director of the Women In STEM (WISTEM) Center at Middle Tennessee State University. Before joining MTSU in 1996, she worked as a chemist for the FDA and as a chemist and lab manager in the plastics industry.

During 1990–96, Iriarte-Gross volunteered with Expanding Your Horizons (EYH) conferences in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. After moving to Murfreesboro, Iriarte-Gross started the first EYH in Tennessee, which has served over 7,550 girls. EYH introduces middle and high school girls to role models and mentors in STEM (science, technology, engineering, and mathematics) through hands-on, girls-only workshops. Girls from Tennessee, as well as southern Kentucky, northern Alabama, and Atlanta, have attended the EYH events at MTSU. Tennessee is now home to seven EYH conference sites (Chattanooga, Columbia, Gallatin, Maryville, Memphis, Morristown, and Murfreesboro), while Knoxville has a planning committee in place.

Iriarte-Gross has been a principal investigator (PI) or co-PI on six National Science Foundation (NSF) awards, including a 2007 grant titled “A Dissemination Project to Increase Girls Raised in Tennessee Science (GRITS).” The National Girls Collaborative Project (NGCP) then named her lead of the GRITS Collaborative Project for the state of Tennessee in 2008. In 2009, she was appointed director of the WISTEM Center at MTSU, the first such center in Tennessee for girls and women in STEM. Iriarte-Gross also is faculty advisor of MTSU’s Women In Science and Engineering (WISE) student organization and WISE living-learning community. In 2014, she and four other STEM faculty at MTSU were awarded an NSF ADVANCE grant for the study “A Catalyst to ADVANCE the Participation and Advancement of Women in Academic STEM Careers at Middle Tennessee State University.”

In 2016, Iriarte-Gross was named a fellow of both the American Chemical Society (ACS) and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Additionally, she received the 2016 William E. Bennett Award for Extraordinary Contributions to Citizen Science from the National Center for Science and Civic Engagement and the 2017 Dreyfus Foundation/American Chemical Society Award for Encouraging Women into Careers in the Chemical Sciences. In 2018, Iriarte-Gross was selected as the ACS Local Section Outreach Volunteer of the Year and was given the Career Achievement Award at MTSU.

A former Upward Bound student, she received the TRIO Achievers Award for Washington, D.C., in 2010. She is an active member of the American Chemical Society, serves on both the Nashville and national Women Chemists Committees of the ACS, and was named to the ACS Leadership Advisory Board.

Alumni Association President

On behalf of the Middle Tennessee State University National Alumni Association, I congratulate you on joining a very special group. With today’s ceremony, you move from being a student to joining more than 140,000 MTSU alumni. As an alum, you are a vital part of the Middle Tennessee State University family. We count on you to represent us to this nation and the world. We hope that your experiences as a student will serve you well in the future.

Always be proud of your alma mater and stay connected to your University. To be involved in the Alumni Association, please contact the Office of Alumni Relations at 1-800-533-MTSU (6878) or visit mtalumni.com.

Welcome to the future and to your National Alumni Association.

Christine Karbowskiak
Chief Administrative Officer, Chief Risk Officer, and Executive Vice President, Bridgestone Americas Inc.; Executive Vice President and Senior Officer,
Bridgestone Corp.; MTSU Board of Trustees Member

With nearly 25 years of service with Bridgestone Americas Inc., Christine Karbowskiak oversees all of Bridgestone Americas' risk and reputation management departments, including communications, environmental, corporate security, safety, industrial hygiene, and internal audit, as well as government relations.

Karbowskiak is an executive vice president and serves as the company's chief administrative officer (CAO) and chief risk officer (CRO). She also is a vice president and senior officer of Bridgestone Corp. and is a member of the boards of Bridgestone Americas Inc., Bridgestone China Asia Pacific, and Bridgestone Brands LLC.

Additionally, she chairs the Bridgestone Americas Board Audit Committee and serves on that board's Governance and Risk Committee. Karbowskiak serves as chair of the Bridgestone Americas Trust Fund as well. She is a member of the Bridgestone International Organizing Committee, the global executive team charged with overseeing Bridgestone's activation of its TOP partnership with the International Olympic Committee.

Karbowskiak is active in community organizations and volunteer efforts and currently serves on many boards and committees, including the MTSU Board of Trustees.

In 1992, Karbowskiak joined Bridgestone Americas in Chicago at the company's Retail Operations as senior counsel and advanced to the position of assistant general counsel one year later. After earning a number of expert legal roles, she was named division general counsel in 1997 for the company's corporate and international operations based in Nashville, Tennessee. Less than two years later, she became the Bridgestone/Firestone divisional vice president of public affairs and eventually vice president of public affairs for Bridgestone Americas in 2001. Four years later, Karbowskiak expanded her responsibilities when she was elected corporate vice president for public affairs and again in 2009 when she was named executive vice president of community and corporate relations and elected to the Board of Directors for Bridgestone Americas.

She was named CAO and executive vice president of Bridgestone Americas in 2010, then was elected vice president and officer of Bridgestone Corp. a year later. The following year she added responsibility as CRO. In 2014, she assumed board duties for Bridgestone China Asia Pacific and was elected vice president and senior officer of Bridgestone Corp.

Karbowskiak earned both a bachelor's degree in Journalism and a Juris Doctor degree from the University of Illinois. She previously was an associate at the law firm of Quinn, Jacobs & Barry and served as an attorney with G.D. Searle and Co. (later The NutraSweet Co.).

She served as the Local Organizing Committee Chair for the 2016 NHL All-Star Game in Nashville. Karbowskiak has been named Volunteer of the Year by the Nashville Chapter of the YMCA and the Nashville Sports Council, a Nashville Business Journal Woman of Influence, a YWCA Academy of Women of Achievement honoree, and a Distinguished Alumnus of the University of Illinois College of Law.

Afternoon Speaker

Saturday, May 4, 2019

Gov. Bill Lee 50th Governor of Tennessee

As a seventh-generation Tennessean, Gov. Bill Lee's roots run deep in this state. He was raised in Franklin, where he still resides today with his wife Maria on his family's farm. He's the proud father of four adult children (Jessica, twin sons Jacob and Caleb, and Sarah Kate) and five grandchildren.

After attending Williamson County Schools, Lee attended Auburn University, where he studied Mechanical Engineering. When he graduated, he returned home to Franklin to join the family business his grandfather started in 1944. Through hard work, Lee learned what it takes to lead a company, doing what is necessary to help build a business and create jobs. He held several roles at Lee Co. before becoming company president in 1992.

Under his leadership, the company grew into a comprehensive facilities solutions and home services company. It now employs more than 1,200 individuals and has won numerous awards for work culture and business accomplishments. Lee, who stepped down as chair and resigned from his company before his 2019 inauguration, was named a "Most Admired CEO" in 2015 by the Nashville Business Journal.

The new governor said throughout his campaign that he woke up every morning focused on how to make life better for his employees, and now he's excited to wake up every morning trying to improve the lives of 6.5 million Tennesseans.

As the state's 50th governor, Lee is focused on several priorities including good jobs, great schools, and safe neighborhoods to keep Tennessee moving in the right direction.

Bill and Maria Lee are active in Grace Chapel Church and in numerous faith-based ministries, which have taken them all over the world to serve people in need, including to Africa, Central America, and the Middle East.

Mace and Chain of Office

Originally a medieval knight's weapon, the mace evolved into a symbol of royal scepters in various crown jewel collections. Large versions of the scepter have come to represent the power and authority of institutions such as our University. The mace measures 50 inches in length and is made of Tennessee cherry wood embellished with sterling silver and lapis lazuli. The Tennessee flower, the iris, denotes the public the University serves who, by their loyalty, give it strength and power. The leaves form a crown to symbolize the ennobling achievements of our graduates. Tennessee freshwater pearls, the official state gem, suggest the inestimable value of inquiring minds. The streamer on the wooden shaft carries the names by which the University has been known since its founding. The finial at the base of the mace is a stylized nut, representing the seed from which springs the mighty tree of those committed to lifelong learning.

The chain of office worn by the president is made of sterling silver. The lapis lazuli gems, mounted on scroll shapes, represent the colleges within the University. The knotted components depict the interdependence of knowledge and the various academic programs of MTSU. The lapis lazuli and sterling represent the University colors of blue and white. The Great Seal of the State of Tennessee embellishes the medallion suspended from the chain, representing the University as part of the Tennessee higher education system.

These unique emblems of authority were designed and crafted by Professor Klaus Kallenberger, formerly of the Art Department. The mace and chain of office are a generous gift to the University from the MTSU Foundation.

MACE BEARER

Friday, May 3, 2019

Dr. James Hart earned a B.A. in Mathematics with High Honors from Hendrix College and an M.S. and Ph.D. in Mathematics, both from Vanderbilt University. He joined the Department of Mathematical Sciences at MTSU in 1991 and has taught courses ranging from college algebra to graduate seminars, including the calculus sequence, linear and abstract algebra, Boolean algebra, and topology. Hart has directed seven master's theses and currently serves as the department's graduate program coordinator.

Hart was one of the recipients of the 2017–18 MTSU Foundation Outstanding Teacher Award, and he places great importance on actively engaging his students in the learning process. Hart trains upper-division and graduate students in the science and art of formal reasoning and proof through one-on-one interaction, small group work, and peer-to-peer disputation. To help in this process, he created self-paced materials for several upper-division courses. One set of these notes was recently published in the Journal of Inquiry-Based Learning in Mathematics.

Working closely with two MTSU colleagues, Dr. Jeremy Strayer and Dr. Sarah Bleiler-Baxter, Hart helped develop and pioneer the use of the inquiry-oriented Pathways to Calculus precalculus materials at MTSU and remains active in the mentoring and professional development of precalculus instructors. He has used insights gained from this experience to create inquiry-based materials for the undergraduate courses Abstract Algebra I and II and for the graduate course Sets and Logic. In 2018, Hart joined the Mathematics Teacher Education Partnership Research Action Group, a network of educators around the country who are working to transform calculus instruction. He is currently developing an inquiry-based Calculus I course that builds upon Pathways to Calculus and embodies the principles and research of this group.

MACE BEARERS

Saturday, May 4, 2019

Morning

Dr. Preston MacDougall was born in Toronto and received his college education in Chemistry at McMaster University in nearby Hamilton, Ontario, Canada. After earning his Ph.D. in 1989 under the supervision of the late R. F. W. Bader, for expanding the scope of Bader's Quantum Theory of Atoms in Molecules to include predictions of chemical reactivity, MacDougall received post-doctoral fellowships to conduct computational chemistry research at Texas A&M University and then in the Materials Science Division of Los Alamos National Laboratory. In 1994, he began his academic career in the Department of Chemistry at MTSU. MacDougall attained the rank of professor in 2008 and served as interim department chair during the 2010–11 academic year, when funding for the new Science Building was secured from the Tennessee legislature. He has taught in the Honors College since 1999 and continues to do independent research, most recently in machine learning. MacDougall supervises the research of undergraduate and graduate students. He also explores creative writing as a pedagogical tool in chemical education.

MacDougall is a recognized leader in public relations on behalf of the chemistry profession and also in expanding the public's opportunities for high-quality informal science education. He is the current chair of the Nashville Section of the American Chemical Society (ACS) and a founding member of the organization's Tennessee Government Affairs Committee, the driving force for creating the Tennessee Legislature's STEM Education Caucus. MacDougall has served as the volunteer director of the Tennessee Junior Academy of Science since 2014. He also offers hands-on chemistry activities designed to both excite and educate children during National Chemistry Week. MacDougall was the first volunteer for the annual state-wide Tennessee STEAM Festival initiated by Murfreesboro's Discovery Center.

Afternoon

Ms. Lori McClure-Wade is a True Blue Raider, having completed both her undergraduate and graduate degrees at MTSU. For 19 years, she has devoted herself to her teaching and her students. Every semester, McClure-Wade works with up to 100 students in both composition and literature classes. Passionate about her students, McClure-Wade prepares incoming freshmen for the demands of being a college student while also challenging them to find their voices as writers. Critical thinking and self-expression are the heart of her pedagogical approach. Challenging her students to explore various texts and assignments, to understand the need to challenge themselves in the process, often produces profound experiences for both McClure-Wade and her students.

To teach is to learn, and McClure-Wade is constantly learning from her students, which helps her hone her pedagogical approach, all with one goal in mind: building students' confidence and preparing them for academic success. As a member of the English Department, McClure-Wade remains committed to professional growth. Her pedagogy development requires quite an investment of time, as she reads and responds to multiple major writing assignments from each student. Pushing students to take on "outside-of-the-box" assignments, leading breakout sessions at department meetings, serving on committees, and participating in various professional development workshops all contribute to a vibrant, challenging, and deeply rewarding career.

Academic Regalia

The black gowns and colorful hoods traditionally worn in Middle Tennessee State University commencement ceremonies have their origins in the Middle Ages.

A statute in England in 1321 required that all “Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors” wear gowns. In the second half of the 14th century, the statutes of certain colleges forbade “excess in apparel” and prescribed the wearing of a long gown. Scholars were often clerics as well, and they adopted costumes similar to those of monastic orders. While the special attire covered rank or social status, thus lending a uniform look to ceremonies, it also served another purpose: warmth in drafty, unheated buildings.

As the universities began to pass from the control of the church, colors often were added to the somber robes and hoods, eventually signifying the degree and specialization.

The cut of the gown, which is usually black, also varies with the degree held—pointed sleeves for the bachelor’s degree; long, closed sleeves with a slit in the arm for the master’s degree; and round, open sleeves for the doctoral degree. While the bachelor’s and master’s gowns have no ornamentation, the doctoral gown is faced down the front with velvet and has three velvet bars across the sleeves.

At Middle Tennessee, hoods are worn by holders of the master’s and doctor’s degrees, with the latter being longer. Hoods are lined with the official colors of the university that conferred the degree; thus holders of degrees from MTSU wear hoods lined in blue and white. The velvet edging on the hood, and often the velvet edging on the gown, represents the candidate’s major academic field. Often holders of the Doctor of Philosophy degree (Ph.D.) will be seen with regalia in dark blue instead of a color symbolic of their discipline. Further, the velvet bars on the sleeves may be either black or the same color as the discipline color of the hood. Colors associated with various subjects follow:

Agriculture - Maize
Arts, Letters, Humanities - White
Commerce, Accountancy, Business - Drab
Criminal Justice - Midnight Blue
Economics - Copper
Education - Light Blue
Fine Arts - Brown
Home Economics - Maroon

Journalism - Crimson
Law - Purple
Library Science - Lemon
Music - Pink
Nursing - Apricot
Oratory (Speech) - Silver Gray
Philosophy - Dark Blue
Physical Education - Sage Green
Science - Golden Yellow
Social Work - Citrine

The black cap, either a mortarboard or a tam, is customarily worn. There is no general rule for the position of the tassel. In practice at Middle Tennessee State University, the tassel is worn on the right. It may be shifted to the left after the degree is awarded. Men may remove their caps during prayer, the playing of the alma mater, and the commencement address.

Undergraduate honor graduates are distinguished by the stoles added to their gowns: gold for those graduating summa cum laude, 3.90 to 4.0 (overall grade point average); silver for magna cum laude, 3.75 to 3.89; and white for cum laude, 3.50 to 3.74. Graduates with University Honors wear blue and white cords and have completed at least 31 hours with a 3.25 average in the Honors program, a curriculum of special classes designed for superior students. Those who have maintained a minimum average of 3.65 in the Honors program are graduating with Distinction in University Honors. Honor graduates and persons graduating with University Honors, along with those who have been commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Army, are listed in this program after the degree recipients.

Some academic honor societies and programs may provide cords, ribbons, medallions, or lapel pins designating the achievement and involvement of their members.

Since 1993, graduates of the University Honors College have received the official Honors medallion in recognition of their final thesis defense and completion of special requirements of the college. The medallion itself is a replica of the official seal of the University Honors College and depicts a lighted torch, three Ionic columns, and a lightning bolt. Respectively, these symbolize the search for truth and knowledge, the stability and unwavering commitment to pursuing knowledge, and the flash of enlightenment or creative energy.

Military veteran students are distinguished by specially designed red stoles and red, white, and blue cords in recognition of their admirable service to their country.

Experiential Learning Scholars are distinguished by blue, silver, and white cords. These scholars completed EXL-designated hands-on learning courses, an off-campus service activity, an on-campus service activity, and a portfolio of reflections on their EXL activities. The EXL program provides students with opportunities for hands-on experience, valuable networking, and an opportunity to explore career paths through real-world experience.

MT Engage Scholars are distinguished by royal blue, white, and gold cords. These students completed MT Engage-designated courses that promote active learning and integrated their learning by reflecting on connections across disciplines and between their academic and cocurricular experiences. MT Engage students showcased their integrative learning in an ePortfolio that documented their community and campus involvement as well as the academic knowledge and skills they gained during their time at MTSU.

International students may wear colorful sashes that represent their country of origin. Each sash symbolizes, in color and design, their country's flag.

Most American colleges and universities have adopted a uniform code. However, at any academic gathering, costumes often are worn that are not described by these guidelines. Some of these may be from foreign universities, others from American institutions that have preferred to remain with the European tradition of allowing each school to determine its own costume. Silver medallions worn by faculty denote 15 years of service, and gold medallions represent 25 years.

Academic Banners

The banners carried and displayed at commencement represent the University; its nine colleges (Basic and Applied Sciences, Behavioral and Health Sciences, Business, Education, Liberal Arts, Media and Entertainment, Graduate Studies, University College, and University Honors); Walker Library; and the Faculty Senate. Art Professor Janet Higgins, her student Kristi Baughman, and Darrell Callis Burks, designer in Creative and Visual Services and 2000 B.F.A. graduate, designed and executed the banners. The colors used in each banner represent disciplines within the colleges. The University seal appears in the center of each banner, symbolizing that the whole is greater than any of its parts.

BANNER CARRIER Friday, May 3, 2019

College of Graduate Studies

Dr. Mike Boyle earned his Ph.D. in Educational Human Resource Development from Texas A&M University and has over two decades of university service as a professor and an administrator. His professional activities have focused on adult and at-risk populations and helping college graduates succeed in the workplace. He has published numerous articles and made professional presentations on various aspects of workforce development, including active and experiential learning.

Boyle was the founding leader of the MTSU Office of Student Success and is the former dean of University College. He has an extensive background with non-traditional student populations and has taught education courses in El Salvador, Panama, and the Czech Republic. He also has taught courses at military installations, including Goodfellow Air Force Base in Texas and Fort Knox in Kentucky. He currently teaches graduate courses in Educational Evaluation, Facilitation of Learning, Curriculum Development, and Higher Education for MTSU's University College and College of Education.

BANNER CARRIERS Saturday, May 4, 2019

College of Basic and Applied Sciences

Dr. Martin Stewart is an associate professor in the Department of Chemistry. He began his career at Middle Tennessee State University in 1979, after earning his Ph.D. at the University of Georgia and completing a post-doc at the University of Pittsburgh. The president of the Tennessee Academy of Science in 2001, Stewart continues to serve on the Executive Board as chair of the Necrology Committee. He spends much time in archival libraries collecting material for a history of the Department of Chemistry at MTSU and carries the CBAS banner for Archibald Belcher and Jeannette Moore King, two original faculty of Middle Tennessee State Normal School when it began its first fall term on September 11, 1911.

College of Behavioral and Health Sciences

Dr. Sherri Stevens is an associate professor in the School of Nursing. She earned a Ph.D. in Nursing from the University of Tennessee, an M.S.N. in adult acute care from the University of Alabama, and a B.S.N. from MTSU. She teaches in the undergraduate and graduate Nursing programs at MTSU. Prior to her teaching career, Stevens worked as an emergency nurse in the middle Tennessee area. Areas of research interest include women and cardiovascular disease.

Jennings A. Jones College of Business

Dr. Carlo D'Augusta studied Accounting at the University of Genoa, at Bocconi University, and at New York University. In 2013, he obtained his Ph.D. from Bocconi University. Prior to joining Middle Tennessee State University, D'Augusta taught Accounting and Financial Statement Analysis at Bocconi University and Intermediate Accounting at Georgia State University. At MTSU, he teaches Intermediate Accounting. His research is in financial reporting. More specifically, D'Augusta is interested in understanding how characteristics of financial information affect capital markets and investors' reaction to financial disclosure, as well as how different types of disclosures can interact to affect information users.

College of Education

Dr. Alicia Pence is an assistant professor in the Department of Elementary and Special Education. Pence received her Ph.D. in Special Education and Severe Disabilities from the University of Illinois. Her research interests are in the areas of inclusive education and professional partnerships with families. Pence's current research investigates the beliefs and preparedness of early intervention service providers who are working with families of limited financial resources. She also supervises students in the Interventionist major, while also teaching courses related to professional partnerships, math, and literacy. Prior to her appointment at MTSU, Pence taught middle school special education in Kentucky for 10 years, serving as a resource teacher, co-teacher, and Response to Intervention math specialist. She endeavors to prepare dynamic special and general education teachers while advocating forcefully for individuals with disabilities.

Faculty Senate

Dr. Pippa E. Holloway, a professor of History, earned a B.A. from the University of North Carolina, an M.A. from the University of North Carolina–Greensboro, and a Ph.D. from Ohio State University. Since coming to MTSU in 1999, she has taught graduate classes in 19th-century history, LGBT history, and historical research methods. Holloway also teaches U.S. History II as part of the General Education program. She has served as graduate director in the History Department and president of the MTSU chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

Holloway's research focuses on legal and political culture. She is the author of Living In Infamy: Felon Disfranchisement and the History of American Citizenship (Oxford University Press, 2013), which was funded in part with a Soros Justice Fellowship from the Open Society Foundations. She is also the author of Sexuality, Politics, and Social Control in Virginia, 1920–1945 (University of North Carolina Press, 2006), which won the Willie Lee Rose Prize from the Southern Association for Women Historians, and the editor of Other Souths: Diversity and Difference in the U.S. South, Reconstruction to Present (University of Georgia Press, 2008). Her work on the history of felon disfranchisement has been cited in numerous court cases, and recently she was one of 10 American historians who signed an amicus brief to the U.S. Supreme Court in Husted v. A. Philip Randolph Institute. Her most recent article, "Testimonial Incapacity and Criminal Defendants in the South," will be published in Crime and Punishment in the Jim Crow South, forthcoming from the University of Illinois Press.

College of Liberal Arts

Dr. James Chaney is an assistant professor in the Department of Global Studies and Human Geography. His research focuses on Latin America, migration, refugee resettlement, and ethnic geographies. Chaney completed his Ph.D. in Geography and Anthropology from Louisiana State University. He has conducted extensive fieldwork in Mexico, Honduras, and Nicaragua examining the mobility and economic strategies of transnational migrant communities. His co-authored book, Hispanic and Latino New Orleans: Immigration and Identity since the Eighteenth Century, was the recipient of the John Brinckerhoff Jackson Book Prize in 2016. Before returning to his home state of Tennessee, Chaney worked as an associate director for a Latino-focused nonprofit in New Orleans that advocated for southeast Louisiana's Latino immigrant population. His current research examines the residential and integration patterns of Nashville's refugee and immigrant populations. Chaney serves as a board member of the United Nations Association, Nashville Cordell Hull Chapter, as well as on the planning committee of Free For Life International, an anti-trafficking organization.

College of Media and Entertainment

Mr. Richard Lewis creates art that moves—both literally and figuratively. He has devoted his life to producing animation and visual effects that not only entertain, but also positively affect others. For him, art is anything that goes beyond physical reality to become something new that alters people's lives, if only for a moment.

His education includes earning a B.A. in Fine Art Drawing from Xavier University in Cincinnati while simultaneously pursuing a minor in Secondary Education. Later, Lewis attended Savannah College of Art and Design in Georgia, where he earned his M.F.A. in Animation and also was a tutor and teaching assistant. In an industry that is both technical and creative, Lewis knows that being adaptable is a major key to success.

He has generated visual effects, titles, graphics, illustration, and matte paintings for numerous projects and television shows, including the X-Files hi-def conversion, the Unsolved Mysteries repackage, two seasons of Life After People on the History Channel, Vanished with Beth Holloway on Lifetime, and five years of Art Mann Presents on ASXtv/HDNET. He also directed a team of animators for two seasons of The High Fructose Adventures of Annoying Orange on Cartoon Network. In addition to entertainment industry experience, Lewis taught at an international college prep boarding school, where he designed a digital media art and computer science program to teach students to create visual art.

University Honors College

Dr. Sarah Chorley is an assistant professor in the Communication Studies Department in the College of Liberal Arts at Middle Tennessee State University. Chorley has been a member of the University Honors College since 2018. Her research focuses on the intersections among organizational communication, obsessive-compulsive disorder (OCD), and identity. She is currently developing an OCD-specific career coaching curriculum to be used in intensive OCD treatment settings, which will help prepare patients to return to work or find a job for the first time. Chorley gives frequent invited lectures on the topics of OCD and communication for health care institutions such as the University of Colorado School of Medicine and Oklahoma State University Hospital. Her most recent publication, Four-Day Magic: Finding Help and Healing for Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder, explores an innovative four-day intensive treatment for OCD from a communicative perspective and is now available through Routledge.

University College

Mr. Kayode Daniel Olumoyin is a lecturer in University Studies. He has a B.S. in Mathematics from Federal University of Agriculture, Abeokuta, Nigeria. Olumoyin received an M.A. in Mathematics from Marshall University and an M.A. in Applied Mathematics and Scientific Computation from Bowling Green State University. He is currently working toward his doctorate in Computational Science. He has taught General Education mathematics courses at MTSU since August 2016.

James E. Walker Library

Ms. Linda M. Turney, associate professor in the Collection Development and Management Department, earned a B.A. in Liberal Arts from Ambassador University and an M.S. in Library Science from the University of North Texas. She joined MTSU in June 2012 as an electronic resources cataloger. Turney strives to maintain the catalog, a library resource that represents the collections based on national standards and local guidelines. She believes good libraries offer meaningful collections that exhibit selectivity, consistency, and thoughtfulness and are stimulating places for users to browse. A good library delights and inspires, increases student retention, and encourages academic success.

Alma Mater

words and music by Charles Douglas Williams (B.M. '54)

We sing thy prai - ses faith - ful guide of youth;

The first system of musical notation for the song 'Alma Mater'. It consists of a grand staff with a treble clef on the upper staff and a bass clef on the lower staff. The key signature has one flat (B-flat) and the time signature is 4/4. The melody is written in the treble clef, and the accompaniment is in the bass clef. The lyrics are: 'We sing thy prai - ses faith - ful guide of youth;'.

Through all the a - ges af - firmed and strong in truth.

The second system of musical notation. The melody continues in the treble clef, and the accompaniment continues in the bass clef. The lyrics are: 'Through all the a - ges af - firmed and strong in truth.'.

Al - ma Ma - ter Mid - dle Ten - nes - see

The third system of musical notation. The melody continues in the treble clef, and the accompaniment continues in the bass clef. The lyrics are: 'Al - ma Ma - ter Mid - dle Ten - nes - see'.

We proud - ly of - fer our hearts in loy - al - ty.

The fourth and final system of musical notation. The melody concludes in the treble clef, and the accompaniment concludes in the bass clef. The lyrics are: 'We proud - ly of - fer our hearts in loy - al - ty.'.
