Senior citizens show improved ability to answer basic health and wellness questions when provided with a reference book that is written at a 3rd-5th grade reading level.

Seniors experience a variety of health issues, beyond common and basic wellness. Health databases and resources are available online; however, seniors often lack reliable internet access. Furthermore, seniors rely primarily on search engines, which do not often yield appropriate results.